Marquess Quits When Archbishop Is Freed

Britain's Cabinet Split On Handling Of Cyprus Dispute

LONDON (AP) — The Marquess of Salisbury's resignation protesting release of Greek-Cypriot Archbishop Makarios focussed attention today on a cabinet rift over the government's handling of the explosive Cyprus issue.

The announcement that Salisbury had quit his cabinet post as leader of government forces in the House of Lords came Friday night. Prime Minister Macmillan's office reported that Queen Elizabeth II had accepted his resignation as Lord President of the Council.

Salisbury also quit as political controller of Britain's atomic energy development. Macmillan's statement said the Earl of Home, commonwealth relations secretary, will take over as Lord President.

ident and the Prime Minister himself will assume the atomic energy post.

Has Other Backing

Informed sources said Salisbury was backed by some other ministers in his opposition to the release of Makarios.

Salisbury, 63-year-old former foreign minister, was believed to have been one of the intransigents in the Conservative Party's efforts to find a successor for Sir Anthony Eden as Prime Minister. Macmillan was named to the post Jan. 10, two hours after Salisbury had spent 60 minutes talking with the Queen.

In announcing his resignation, Salisbury sent the Prime Minister a letter.

Russian Couple Seeks To Take Sons From U.S.

Family Court Judge Must Decide Children's Future

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago Family Court judge must decide whether a Russian-born couple should be given custody of their three sons, under court supervision since 1953, and take them to the Soviet Union.

George and Nabejda Kozmin, former Russian slave laborers who were married in a displaced persons camp in Germany, want to return to Russia. They want to take with them their sons, all born in the camp in Aschaffenberg, and a fourth son, who was born in Chicago and is an American citizen.

Embassy Aids Couple

Russian embassy officials are aiding the couple in their fight to regain custody of their three sons. The boys were made wards of the Family Court in July 1953 when both parents entered Chicago State Hospital after mental breakdowns.

The three boys, Richard, 10, George, 8, and Paul, 7, live at a children's home in suburban Lake Villa. The other child, Peter, born last August, lives with his parents.

Edward J. Nerad, chief Cook County probation officer, said the Kozmins, who came to this country in 1950 as displaced persons, sought to regain their sons' custody last December but their appeal was turned down by Judge John H. Clayton Jr.

The Kozmins, Nerad said, then appealed to the Russian embassy in Washington to help them in their court fight. Nerad said Fedor Solomatn, a representative of the Russian Embassy, has contended the Family Court has no jurisdiction over Russian citizens and has demanded release of the children.

"Our chief interest," Nerad said, "is in seeing that the children have proper care. Our information is that the parents cannot yet give that care."

Mrs. Kozmin, 35, was released from the state hospital in January 1954, and at her request her husband received a conditional release Nov. 1, 1955. Kozmin, 54, before his commitment, had worked as a railroad mechanic. Nerad said the family now is on relief.

Nerad described Kozmin as confused and embittered with America and unwilling or unable to recall anything pleasant about this country.

Farmers Get 1% More For Their Products

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says farmers received 1 per cent more for their products between mid-February and mid-March, partially offsetting a 2 per cent decline in the previous month.

The department also announced Friday that average farm production and living costs advanced about one third of 1 per cent, setting a new record.

The increase in average receipts was credited mainly to higher prices for meat animals, fruits and commercial vegetables. Lower prices were recorded for dairy products, eggs and cotton.

Cooper originally submitted low bids on certain types of tires but these bids and others were rejected by the department.

A spokesman for the Highway Department said then that its contract specifications were "less than proper."

Noble also announced that the department has completed its tabulation of bids submitted for tire and tube contracts. He said awards will be made to the low bidder in every case.

The Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. of Findlay, Ohio, was the apparent low bidder on 50 per cent of the contracts, which totaled an estimated $200,000.

Noble Named Comptroller Of Ohio Highways

Will Have Charge Of Finances On Huge Highway Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Paul L. Noble has been named comptroller of the Ohio Department of Highways.

The newly created post and the appointment were announced Friday at a press conference by Highway Chief Charles Noble. The Nobles are not related.

The highway chief said Noble will begin work immediately and have general charge of financial planning. The 35-year-old appointee, a native of Cleveland, has an indefinite leave of absence from Ohio State University where he is an assistant professor of accounting.

To Have Charge Of Budget

Noble will have overall charge of the department's general budget and keep financial controls on Gov. C. William O'Neill's one billion dollar road-building program.

The highway chief said the position was created to "increase our efficiency, get rid of surplus red tape, if it exists, and to make maximum use of resources available to the department."

Noble said the department's auditing division has "its hands full" and the appointment of a comptroller will help lift the burden from this division.

The new comptroller is a member of the board of directors of the Columbus chapter of the National Assn. of Cost Accountants. He is married and the father of three children.

The highway chief told newsmen that he and four assistants would be in Washington Monday and Tuesday to discuss proposed policy regarding rate of progress of surveys, designs, right-of-way acquisitions and other related matters on interstate projects.

State Officials To Meet

Noble and representatives from California, Missouri, New York, Texas and Georgia will meet with B. D. Tallamy, in charge of the federal government's highway program.

Kidnap Victim Reported Seen

Police Press Hunt In Southeast Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A U.S. embassy spokesman said today police searching for kidnapped Mrs. Anita Carroll have found a witness who said he saw a "foreign lady" traveling on a mule with bandits and their families near the Iran-Pakistan border.

Police and imperial troops are pressing their search for Mrs. Carroll of Issaquah, Wash., in rough desert country in southeastern Iran. Outlaw tribesmen seized her Sunday night after killing her husband, another U.S. aid official, and two Iranians.

The embassy disclosed the police report in denying rumors that Mrs. Carroll had been abandoned by her captors. The report said the searchers were following a trail of paper and clothing, presumably left by Mrs. Carroll, when they found her empty suitcase and came across the witnesses.

Traveling Toward Pakistan

The embassy spokesman said the witness "claimed to have seen a foreign lady on a mule, traveling along with the women and children of the bandits in the desert toward the southeast Iran-Pakistan border."

The witness said the woman he saw was not fat and was "not looking sick," adding "the blonde white-faced foreigner did not have any difficulty and had no signs of injury."

Teamsters Put Million Into Two Race Tracks

CLEVELAND (AP) — One million dollars of Teamsters' Union pension fund money has been invested in two Cleveland race tracks. But James R. Hoffa, head of the Central Conference of Teamsters, said the loan was made on "the real estate, not on the tracks."

Confirming a report Friday that the loan was made to Cleveland Raceways, Inc., a month ago, Hoffa said the land the two tracks are located on is valued at 4.5 million dollars.

A spokesman for the track operators estimated the value of the properties and other physical structures involved as "in excess of five million dollars."

Raceways operates Cranwood Race Course, a half-mile track, and Thistle Down Park, a one-mile oval track with a grandstand that seats 25,000.

Hoffa was reached in Detroit a few hours after he pleaded innocent in Washington to charges of conspiring and bribing to get seats of a Senate committee investigating rackets in the labor and management field.

Sheldon B. Guren, attorney and secretary of Cleveland Raceways, identified Hoffa as one of the fund trustees with whom the deal was made. He said he believed the name of the pension fund was "Teamsters' Union."

Four persons were injured in two of the four district highway mishaps investigated by state highway patrolmen Friday. Two drivers were arrested.

Three persons were hurt at 11 a.m. on Rt. 267, just north of East Liverpool, when cars driven by Clarence Gotschall, 58, of East Liverpool and Osborne Sellers, 35, of East Liverpool collided head-on.

Injured were: Mrs. Lillian Gotschall, 60, wife of one of the drivers, fractures of the ribs, and lacerations of the hands, eyes and nose.

Sellers, fractures of the right arm and ribs.

Gotschall, abrasions of both knees.

Mrs. Gotschall is in fairly good condition at East Liverpool City Hospital. The other two injured persons were treated at the hospital and dismissed.

Patrolmen said the mishap occurred when Sellers' northbound auto came around a curve on the wrong side of the road and crashed into the oncoming Gotschall car.

Sellers was arrested for reckless operation.

Bible Words for Today

DEUTERONOMY 6:6,7. "These words which I command you this day shall be upon your heart; and you shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house. . . (RSV)

The foundation of our nation is in its homes. The shape of the nation of tomorrow is being determined in the homes of today. It is in our homes that we get our fundamental attitudes toward life, toward God, toward our fellow men, toward the Bible, and toward the church.

The home is not what it was a few generations ago. The machine age has taken work out of the home and sent the home into the crowded city and town. There the home has become a combination dormitory and restaurant and the father is often something between an absentee owner and a house guest.

Although we cannot make time stand still and avoid all change, in this one thing we must never lose the lessons of the past; we must make God the center of every home. In our homes we must both teach and practice love of God and love of our fellow men.

JESUS LOVED THEM

By PATRICK and GARRISON

JAMES Son of Alphaeus

"And he ordained twelve, that they should be with him . . . Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus . . ."

—Mark III:14,18

No name in the New Testament has caused quite so much confusion as that of James.

The reason is that in different places we read variously of James the son of Alphaeus, James the brother of the Lord, and of James the Less.

Are all these one and the same person? Catholic scholars for the most part say yes. Many Protestant authorities agree with them.

But then another question arises. What is meant by the designation, "brother of the Lord?"

Catholic interpreters assert that the Greek word, "adelphos," used in this reference, can mean step-brother or even a near relative.

Therefore, they argue, James was not the brother of Jesus in the literal sense—that is, he was not the son of Mary, the Virgin. It is more likely, they contend, that he was the son of the Virgin's sister, and therefore a cousin of Jesus.

In the early Church, the Greek fathers believed him to be the son of Joseph by a first marriage. Latin writers of the same period, however, all regarded James as the cousin of Jesus, since they taught that Mary remained a virgin all her life.

Whatever his exact relation to Jesus, James held a position of great respect among the Apostles.

It is said that after the martyrdom of St. Stephen, the other Apostles chose James to preside over affairs of the church in Jerusalem. Hence, he is sometimes referred to as the Bishop of Jerusalem.

According to the historian Hegesippus, who lived toward the end of the second century, James made a public declaration of his faith from one of the Temple ramparts, and was hurled to the ground by angry scribes and Pharisees. He was not killed by the fall, so his attackers then stoned him. As he was being killed, so the account goes, he called upon God to forgive his murderers.

THE DIVINE VIGIL

Scenes like this are as commonplace as the moonbeams that play on the nursery wall. Little Gail doesn't know it . . . but Daddy and Mummy "look in" on her every night.

But what of the hours when parents sleep? What of the busy playtime when Daddy's at work, and Mummy's in the kitchen, and Gail is out walking her doll? Who will "look in" then?

Centuries ago the Hebrew pilgrims went up to Jerusalem for the great feasts, lifting their eyes to the hills, singing the song of "The Divine Vigil."

He that keepeth thee will not slumber rang the voice of the leader. He that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep answered the chorus.

Even the loving care of parents is no substitute for the faithfulness of God. When you worship in church next Sunday you'll be expressing the ageless conviction: My help cometh from the Lord.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Close Your Eyes And Point

Sen. Bricker has asked Ohioans to tell him where they would like to cut the federal budget. Although most of us lack direct knowledge of federal spending, Sen. Bricker thinks some of his constituents — particularly those who work for the federal government — may have first-hand information.

It is a sound idea, as far as the first-hand information is concerned. Whether or not it will be relayed to Sen. Bricker, especially by a federal employee, is something else. But the information is there.

Edwin A. Lahey and David Kraslow of the Chicago Daily News staff in Washington recently plowed through the 1,249 pages of the budget, to see what they could find. They found it was possible to close their eyes and point, to pinpoint items that could stand re-examination.

One item is in plain sight of every congressman — assorted flunkies who are appointed to stand around in uniform and draw the kind of pay for being alive that would look like higher-echelon pay out where the work begins.

Scooper-dooper limousines for officials who can well afford to buy their own cars like other taxpayers, statutes that no one wants, special commissions to do special things that no one is interested in, multi-million-dollar buildings to keep more bureaucrats shuffling paper in, piles of strategic materials to subsidize money-grubbing special interests, research specialists who never find anything that someone else could not find at non-government expense, thickly-padded travel allowances — things like these are a dime a dozen.

But they are peanuts — Because the place where the big money could be saved is in national security, international affairs and finance and veterans' services and benefits, accounting for 70 per cent of all proposed federal spending.

All the money that could be grubbed out of the budget a few millions at a time could be piddled away in one giant snafu over guided missiles. All the fringe benefits that could be clipped off the high cost of running the regular government could be swallowed at a gulp by one blooper in the design of one of the new weapons the militarists are always discarding because they become obsolete before they are finished.

The entire saving of raising the first-class mail rate to the point where it should be, to be in ratio with the cost of other services, could be frittered away by one gang of foreign-aid do-gooders saving people who don't want to be saved with the taxes of Americans who did not particularly want to save them.

There is no real mystery about budget-cutting. When the rest of us do it, we do it where it hurts. That is where the federal government would have to do it, too, if it took budget-cutting seriously.

Stay Of Execution

Ohio's 23-member Board of Education apparently has survived the legislative challenge to its continued existence. Bills to abolish it in favor of a smaller group have been pigeonholed by the Education Committee of the House of Representatives.

But a stay of execution should not be mistaken for a cleanbill of health and a full pardon. The 23-member board must still prove it is not unwieldy as a policy-making agency.

It can be forgiven for its unwieldiness as an administrative body, because it never was intended to perform in the administrative field. That will be the responsibility of the new state director of education, Edward S. Holt of Springfield, when he moves into the job.

As policy-makers, the 23 board members have enough unexplored problems to keep them busy for the next few years. Ohioans never were so keenly aware as they are now that education in their state has grown to giant size haphazardly and is still growing.

The 102nd General Assembly is being asked to provide nearly $400 million in state aid for public schools.

Shadow Of 1926

Every threat of a general strike in Britain revives the specter of the momentous popular reaction of 1926, when a nationwide tieup set the stage for the Trades Disputes and Treaders-Union Act of 1927.

Although the general strike lasted only nine days, the law it caused has lasted 30 years without substantial change. Even Labor governments have not dared to tamper with it. Under the law, unions must pay damages suffered by employers in the course of illegal strikes — a principle still not firmly embodied in U.S. law. Sympathy strikes, political strikes and most forms of picketing are outlawed.

These harsh provisions have been retained because Britons have known that their common welfare as a nation of exporters cannot withstand the shock of sudden, arbitrary readjustments in the cost of production. This knowledge never was clearer than it is in 1957, when Britain is struggling desperately to correct an imbalance of exports and imports.

Religion In And On The Job

A Refresher

By EUGENE CARR

If we believe in applying the principles of a religious faith to everyday life, then we should ask ourselves some rather pertinent questions.

Do we give our religious training and experiences the same chance to succeed as other phases of life and living?

Do we consciously prepare ourselves for a proper application of the teachings of our faith to the daily problems and opportunities we encounter?

Do we readily draw on our faith? Is it a spontaneous, natural reaction?

Do we renew and refresh our minds and spirits from day to day, so that our faith is sharp and sure, alert to our needs and the needs of others?

For example, a man is trained for a particular job. He has had special schooling. He has served an apprenticeship or training period. Often, he must pass a series of tests or examinations to qualify. He develops his skill and aptitude, and further knows valuable sources of advice and information in his line of work.

As he goes through his career, he grows in knowledge and ability, improving with each day on the job. There comes a time when he relies heavily on his training and experience and his every move and decision is natural, easy.

Yet, he does not rest there. He keeps himself up-to-date on developments in his field. He reads and studies, exchanges ideas with others. If possible, he takes a refresher course in his favorite subjects to sharpen his knowledge and point up his effectiveness.

Are we as conscientious in applying the tools of a religious faith? Do we give the time we should to study, prayer, and meditation? Do we go, when possible, to group meetings where we may be exposed to the religious experiences of others and see their faith at work? Or, do we depend for the most part on the early day training of childhood, the long-ago contacts with a hometown church and a religious father and mother?

If we believe the principles of a religious faith have a definite place in our day to day lives as a part of the job, the home, the family group, and the social event, then we will keep ourselves up-to-date in our contacts with God. There is no better "refresher course".

Invitation To Burglars

By BILL DYE

The following piece was written by a man who is at present serving a term for burglary in Jackson prison and has drawn from his own experience and the collaboration of fellow convicts for his facts.

JACKSON, MICH.

When the convicted burglars of the State Prison of Southern Michigan, the world's largest prison at Jackson, Mich., were asked how they picked their victims, their answer was unanimous.

To a man, they said the victim "fingered" himself!

Insurance companies, police chiefs and detectives all over the country have pointed this out for years, but the home owner keeps right on feeding information to the burglar that puts him right on the head of the list of prospective victims.

The convicted burglars are not a bit hesitant about revealing their working methods. As one aptly put it, "You can warn the public all you want to, they won't pay any attention til they've been hit."

A burglar who was at one time the thorn in the side of Detroit burglary squads laid out several of his methods of operation. In each of them the householder had been the one who let the burglar know he was a good prospect.

You intend to go to a show. You know you are going to be gone for three or four hours. You check the gas, put out the cat and lock all the windows and doors. The house is safe.

That's what you think!

You have just invited a burglar to come calling while you are out enjoying yourself. When you snapped off those lights, you might as well have written an invitation to a burglar to call on you and clean you out.

Many burglars "cruise" looking for a house with all the lights out between dark and 9 o'clock. Who in this modern age of TV and good entertainment goes to bed that early? Hardly anyone; figure it out for yourself. The professional burglar has.

He merely rings your doorbell and if you answer, he asks for someone you have never heard of. If you don't answer, you may be sure you will be plucked like a chicken for your valuables.

You also give a burglar the information he needs when you go on a trip without canceling out your subscriptions or your milk deliveries. Burglars will go by your house, see the papers and milk and know you are gone.

If you have a dog, you'll either take him with you on a trip or let the neighbors care for him. This is one time that man's best friend becomes the burglar's best friend. An empty doghouse is an invitation to an empty house.

Burglars say they read the society columns of the papers until they read one disclosing that their victim is going to attend a party. Then he has him. He just waits for the family to go and he creeps in.

The burglars hint at several ways you can protect yourself: Keep your home occupied at all times if it is possible. If this is not possible, keep someone checking your home to see you are protected.

Leave a light on at all times. If you are going on a trip, give a neighbor your keys and have him switch the light from room to room every day. A light on in one room only, night after night, is a giveaway.

Stop all papers and milk deliveries until you return. Don't release any information to the press that you are leaving. Tell them when you return.

Other than these precautions, there isn't much you can do but pray or install a burglar alarm. North American Newspaper Alliance

Foreign Travel Boom

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — More Americans than ever are expected to seek fun and culture overseas this year — and to spend more money in the pursuit. All of the big three tourist outlets — Europe, Far East and Latin America — are in on the boom.

In the first two months of the year this wasn't so for Europe. Bookings were trailing last year by as much as 20 per cent, travel agencies, airlines and steamship companies report. Touring ardor was cooled by fears of war and of gasoline and other shortages. As a byproduct travel to Latin America and the Far East took a sudden spurt.

Then sentiment about Europe changed sharply. The war scare died down. Gasoline rationing all but disappeared. Where it survives, tourists get special rations.

Rush for reservations in the last month leads transportation firms to predict overseas travel will be up around 10 per cent. Both airlines and surface lines are adding equipment to handle the peak summer rush.

"The dollar shortage in Europe is so pressing this year," American Express president Ralph T. Reed says, "that special efforts are being made to keep the American tourist comfortable and happy."

"The American traveler is assured of ample supplies of gasoline across Western Europe, including Great Britain and France where rationing for local nationals is in force. Car rentals continue as usual. Hotel accommodations are generally better than in 1956. Prices in most European countries may be slightly higher than last year."

The Pacific Travel Area Assn., covering 18 countries, says advance bookings indicate a continuing rise in travel to the Orient. Americans spent about 45 million dollars on this last year, up about 35 per cent over 1955. George Killian, president of the American President Lines which has a program for 24 new vessels over the next 20 years, says reservation are up 25 per cent over last year.

Randolph Sevier, Matson Navigation Co. president, says new ships on Pacific routes will give the Pacific a chance to rival the Atlantic.

Travel to South America should be up 25 per cent this year, American Express predicts. Both surface and air lines are booking more tours.

A Home Away From Home

Civil Rights Escape Hatch

By JAY G. HAYDEN

WASHINGTON
For the first time since President Franklin D. Roosevelt revived the fight for racial equality in southern states there is better than an even chance that national legislation to that end will be voted on decisively in the present Congress.

However a new approach — tabbed by its main sponsor, Sen. Samuel J. Ervin, as constitutional and idealistic but much more "legalistic" — is seriously threatening to pass an amendment that will virtually annihilate the reform proposed.

The basic issue at stake is President Eisenhower's civil rights bill, already reported favorably by the House Judiciary Committee and seemingly sure to pass in that branch.

Most of the provisions of this measure, such as creation of a commission to study civil rights evasions, a new civil right enforcement division in the Department of Justice and specific assertion of the right to vote, regardless of race or religion, seem not too hard for southerners to swallow.

The main rumpus has focused on an authorization of the U.S. attorney general to seek temporary or permanent judicial injunctions to prevent persons being deprived of the right to vote in any election for national officers.

The claim of Sen. Ervin and others is that the latter proposal amounts to attempt to to by-pass trial by jury as applied to not only voting — rule for which definitely is reserved to the states — but such things as running of public schools.

A case in point, they say, was the recent decision of U.S. Judge Robert L. Taylor threatening with contempt of court any person anywhere who interfered with a decision he had issued requiring racial integration in a school at Clinton, Tenn.

A claim of the defense is that case, now on the way to decision by the U.S. Supreme Court, is that by this action Judge Taylor set himself up as a judicial czar by holding that any challenge of his finding was contempt of court, warranting a jail sentence for the offender.

If that principle is upheld, it is contended, presidentially appointed federal judges in the South can by process of contempt of court send people to jail for violation of their decrees, in total disregard of trial by jury or other basic legal rights set up by the U.S. Constitution.

The first test of this contention came in the House Judiciary Committee, considering the Eisenhower civil rights bill, where a motion for insertion of the right of "trial by jury" in contempt cases failed by the close vote of 17 to 15.

A little later the same motion in a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee was defeated by the vote, 3 to 3.

The importance of the issue thus raised is self evident. Wherever there remains the right of trial by jury (by citizens of the local constituency involved) there is very little chance that any southerner, charged with violation of Negro rights, would be convicted.

That condition is just as much so with respect to federal courts, which draw their jurors from the judicial district concerned, as in state courts.

Federal judges, in contrast, are appointed by the president of the United States and need not necessarily even be citizens of the states in which they serve.

Actually, most of the federal judges south of the Mason and Dixon Line are southern born and bred. But it is true also that they are sworn to uphold the national law and they take their cues above all from their supreme judicial superior, the Supreme Court of the United States.

Educational Politics

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Buried in the hearings of the Senate committee investigating labor rackets, beneath some very sensational testimony and disclosures about official and union corruption, crime, vice, and misuse of union funds, is another item.

It will receive continued attention long after the last witness leaves the Senate caucus room.

It involves widespread use of union membership funds for political purposes. Specifically, it concerns teamster support of Sen. Wayne Morse's campaign last fall. Sen. Barry Goldwater drew some interesting answers in questioning Frank W. Brewster, a vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and head of the union's Western Conference.

HERE IS a sample of the pungent flavor of Brewster's admissions:

"Goldwater: Did you publish a pamphlet for one of the senatorial campaigns over the signature of the Western Conference of Teamsters?"

"Brewster: We did."

"Goldwater: Do you not consider that political?"

"Brewster: I thought it was education for our membership. I thought it was a wonderful speech."

"Goldwater: You did not print any speeches of the opposition candidates?"

"Brewster: Our membership wouldn't have liked it."

"Goldwater: Would not have liked it. All the membership would not have liked it?"

"Brewster: The largest percentage."

"Goldwater: You say it is educational. In here it states, 'You cannot separate your economic interests from your political interests.'"

"Brewster: I think it is educational."

Senatorial courtesy compelled Goldwater to omit mention of his colleague, Sen. Morse.

The speech under discussion was a political address Sen. Morse made last summer before the teamsters' convention in Vancouver, in his fight against Douglas McKay.

IT WAS REPRINTED in an expensive illustrated booklet and distributed to a reported 50,000 Oregon teamster members.

On its back page it was marked as an "educational service" and it was printed in Seattle, hence the cost may not be listed as a campaign expenditure.

As to the tacit admission that a group which is not "the largest percentage" of membership may have no voice in the way its union funds are spent, what better expression can be made for a tyranny of a majority?

In practice, even the majority has no voice in how much union money, which comes from its dues and compulsory assessments, will be spent by its officials in political campaigns.

In the weeks before last November, the "Oregon Teamster," a weekly, carried on its front page a full-page photograph of Sen. Morse with a headline calling for his re-election. Yet this, too, was "educational."

AMONG THEMSELVES, and before their union meetings, the labor leaders in Oregon make no bones about their political activity.

From its consolidation in 1955, the merged AFL-CIO State Labor Council promoted its political organization, COPE.

At a convention of some 700 delegates of affiliated unions in Portland, including those of the teamsters, the state AFL-CIO secretary warned the delegates that the new merger organization would "get tough" with central labor councils not doing their share of political activity.

He added that the state council was determined that labor become politically active in every Oregon county. But from that point, most of the activity was "educational."

As in the Jimmy Durante song where the clear notes of a tuba evoke the remark, "That's a trumpet!" labor chiefs, when asked about political work cry, "Why, that's education!"

Speaking of Towers

("Manhattan Towers," a best-selling record heard all over America, glorifies the big city as having charms completely eclipsing those in the smaller towns. The following switch, using a similar rhythm, gives the sticks a break. —Ed. note.)

It was snowing the first time I saw my tower, and the spell of a snowfall in a country town is a thing of pure enchantment... There was sheer beauty in the unplowed street, and the ermine mantle spreading as far as the eye could see. Always in my home town I knew that the love of it had not been lost in crowded subways, teaming streets and hectic skyscrapers.

HOW WONDERFUL is the Voice of the Small Town!... A chanticleer crowing afar off... the echoing whistle of a locomotive... an old trolley taking a curve on rusty rails... dogs barking at the heels of small fry.

I opened the window to let the music in... the four-piece orchestra at my first school dance... the laughter of contented people with time to laugh convincingly.

LISTEN, YOU WHO SING only of the great city. The home towns, too, have something to stir the heart. What big city can eclipse them? Chicago? Chicago is nice, BUT...

It hasn't got the village square... It hasn't got a country fair... It hasn't got the temple hills... And it hasn't got those whippoorwills.

New York? Well, New York is wonderful BUT...

It hasn't got that old swimmin' hole... It hasn't got a hitchin' pole... It hasn't got a rippling brook... Or a Huckleberry Finn with an old bent hook... It hasn't got an apple-scented hill and a leafy glen with a cider mill... It hasn't got those Jacks and Jills who sleep without their sleeping-pills.

DETROIT? YEAH, it's a wonderland, BUT... It hasn't got bluebirds in the trees... It hasn't got that perfumed woodland breeze... It hasn't got kids swinging on a gate... And it hasn't got Meade's Pond, where I used to skate!

St. Louis? Not bad, BUT...

It hasn't got those barefoot kids... It hasn't got those katydids... It hasn't got Mom's home-made pumpkin pie... And it hasn't barn swallows swarming high.

BIG CITIES of the land, you're glittering, majestic, exciting, and inspiring... You bestow rich rewards... You pour out great opportunities... You're wonderful, babe... But the small towns have a special glory and a memorable charm... There are towers of a sort there, too.

JUST HEARD of a real-estate agent for an extra cheap housing development boasting, "It has wall-to-wall floors."

Hollywood movie companies have leased rights to drill for oil under their studios... If any gushers are found it will be fun to read the credit lines.

Stock dividends, breaking out in a rash on all sides, should be studied carefully, says an economic expert declaring that in a tight money market the issuance of these stock dividends can be almost "the same as printing their own greenbacks."

Bette Davis has decided against an early TV debut and quit a "Playhouse 90" starring role... (They looked up, perhaps and she had gone with the wind.)

More people are saving money and saving more money than in years, a government agency reports... Wanna bet?

New York has the first Ziegfeld Follies in some years, its costs running into the stratosphere... The first one Ziegfeld produced in July, 1907 cost only $13,000, and it was considered an extravaganza.

Connecticut is talking of naming a state dog to take its place with the state flower... If it is anything but the bulldog, Yale will secede.

Sen. John Williams of Delaware, in opposing more government money for emergency livestock feeding, without careful screening, says the King Ranch in Texas once got 930 tons of such feed and a few days later one of its horses won the rich Belmont Stakes... "That horse was on relief," he added, which in our book is the crack of the year.

Polio Inoculations

Set At County Schools

LISBON — Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, has announced the schedule for polio inoculations for the county schools next week.

Second shots will be given at Elkton and West Point Schools Monday and at Beaver Local School Tuesday. First shots will be given at Leetonia schools Friday, he said.

Eight-six children were examined at United School Friday in a pre-school clinic conducted for children entering the school next fall.

Dr. Palmer, county nurses, and the United School nurse, Mrs. Martha Falcon, were assisted by mother in holding this clinic.

The onetime bongo player—now a titan of television—press previewed the elaborate layout Friday with an opening so fancy helicopters were used for taxis from the airport.

The hotel—called Desi Arnaz Western Hills Hotel—adjoins the Indian Wells Country Club. Both are Arnaz enterprises.

Some idea of the hotel's luxury: it cost one million dollars and only has 42 rooms.

Each room comes equipped with its own private bar, original paintings, gold fleck draperies and private patio.

The main dining room has a unique sunken bar which features drinks from Desi's personal Cuban recipes.

The house orchestra is the original Arnaz band. Desi says the only change is that a Mexican sings "Babalu" now.

The resort is but the latest chapter in one of Hollywood's most fabulous success stories.

When "I Love Lucy" first began on television Desi was the unknown quantity. No one wanted him on the show but his wife, Lucille Ball.

That was in 1951.

Today Desi, with one of the sharpest minds in Hollywood, is boss and owner of Desilu, Inc., one of the world's largest television producers.

He owns his own studio—the same one he used to rent space from—and employs 800 people, more than some major lots.

He branched into the resort business after taking up golf three years ago.

Most golf addicts just buy the kind of clubs you carry in a bag. Arnaz, a millionaire, buys country clubs.

Army Cuts Service Time For Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has cut by more than half the length of time youthful reservists must continue training after active duty. It also reduced the total service obligation of draftees and regular Army volunteers.

The changes in requirements for reservists and National Guardsmen were announced Friday.

Under the new program, below draft-age youths who volunteer for six months' active duty training will be required to serve three years instead of the present 7½ in the ready reserve, subject to immediate call on active duty.

The ready reserve obligation for Army draftees was reduced from five years to four. Draftees spend two years on active duty, and the reduction means they now will stay in the ready reserve an additional two years instead of three.

Likewise, the total obligation for regular Army volunteers was reduced from five to four years. Men may volunteer for three, four or more years. A three-year volunteer henceforth will be required to spend only one additional year in the ready reserve.

Daughter's Visit Lands Youngstown Man In Jail

WARREN, Ohio—Coincidence landed Samuel Davis of Youngstown in the clutches of the law early today.

A teen-age daughter of Davis came from Altoona, Pa., Friday night for a visit, but couldn't find where he lived. So she asked police for help.

Since Davis was employed at Hill-Hubbell Pipe Co. in Girard, the police offered to drive to the plant and have a look at his time card, which would show his address.

In the plant yard they surprised a man and a woman by a gasoline pump. Police said they were filling five gallon cans with fuel.

Police didn't need to look at the time card. It turned out the man they put under arrest was Davis, accompanied by his housekeeper. The pair posted bond for a later appearance in court.

followed Rayburn's blunt expression of opinion. But Eisenhower is understood to have heeded the Texan's advice not to send Congress a special letter asking for presidential disability legislation.

Instead, Atty. Gen. Brownell will go before a House Judiciary Subcommittee Monday to spell out the administration proposal.

Rayburn was said to have told the President the country has gotten along very well through the years without special arrangements for temporary succession to the presidency, and that if Eisenhower were to send up a special letter on the subject it would lead to a lot of talk that he is in poor condition and is preparing to relinquish the active presidency.

The Washington Teamster, official publication of the union in Washington State, said a council representing all 39 of the state's locals had gone on record against any special assessments or dues increases for union "defense funds."

Truman Unconcerned About Split With Ike

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said Friday, "I just don't give a damn" about strained relations between him and President Eisenhower.

Truman made the comment as he arrived at Pennsylvania Station in answer to a newsman's query if he had any plans to make up with Eisenhower.

"It's all on one side. It's not on my part. I just don't give a damn about the situation," said Truman.

Why Pay Rent

We have five homes left with two bedrooms on first floor — plenty of room for expansion on second floor.

These homes have all the modern conveniences to offer; also full basements. They are on 60x150 ft. lots.

We still have VA and FHA financing available. Anyone in the average income bracket can get one of these. G. I.'s don't overlook this opportunity — it doesn't cost anything to look. Don't wait!

Rocket To Be Fired Into Outer Space

BALTIMORE (AP) — About 50 space scientists have decided to attempt to fire a rocket 2,050 miles into space where it would vacuum up some scientific dirt and bring it back to earth.

The Martin Co. conceived the plan and explained it in detail Friday to distinguished leaders in the fields of cosmic ray and nuclear emulsion research and rockets.

Raymond T. Patterson, Martin advanced design engineer, and Dr. Gerhart Grotzinger of Martin's Research Institute for Advanced Study, went into details.

Patterson said the 153-pound "research vehicle" would be rocketed 2,050 miles aloft by a multiple-stage rocket. Only about one-third of the vehicle would return to earth by parachute. This, said Patterson, would include an 81-inch long vertical cylinder which would contain 616 nuclear emulsion pellicles, or film sheets.

These sheets would record the bombardment of cosmic particles and magnetic fields of which man has only indirect and very meager knowledge.

Calling the loan "an ordinary business deal," Guren said it is backed by a 6 per cent first mortgage which will be repaid in installments of roughly $33,000 per quarter for 10 years. He said the loan would earn some $300,000 for the union.

Mushrooms Crown Casserole

From can opener to dinner table in 15 minutes — that's the life cycle of a hearty meatless main dish made of canned corn and canned mushrooms.

Of course, the mushrooms and corn come from your pantry shelf. If you want to "de luxe" this meatless dinner a bit further, open your freezer and take out South African rock lobster tails to place in the broiler.

This springtime dinner is quick, easy and very good to eat. So is the corn souffle recipe that follows it.

Corn Mushroom Scallop
One No. 303 can whole kernel corn drained; 1 4-ounce can button or sliced mushrooms, drained; salt pepper; marjoram; rosemary; 2 tablespoons light cream; 1 cup of crushed crackers; 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese; 1 tablespoon butter or margarine.

In greased 10x6x2-inch casserole, place half of corn. Then add layer of mushrooms, reserving several for garnish.

Add remaining corn. Sprinkle with pinch each of salt, pepper, marjoram and rosemary; add the cream.

Combine cracker crumbs and cheese. Sprinkle over top; dot with butter.

Bake at 375 degrees F. for 15 minutes or until bubbly.

Corn Souffle

One quarter cup butter or margarine; 1/4 cup flour; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 six-ounce can evaporated milk (2-3 cup) undiluted; 1 No. 303 can (1 pound) cream-style corn; 1/2 cup chopped green pepper; 1 teaspoon aromatic bitters; 1 cup diced sharp cheddar cheese; 4 eggs, separated.

Melt butter in top of double boiler. Add flour and salt; mix well. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thick.

Add corn, green pepper, bitters and cheese; stir until the cheese melts; remove from heat.

Beat egg yolks until light and cream colored; gradually pour the yolks into sauce, stirring constantly.

Clean beater; beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Carefully fold sauce into egg whites.

Pour mixture into well-buttered two-quart casserole. Bake at 475 degrees F. for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 400 degrees and bake 30 minutes.

21 Million Acres Land To Be Idled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final figures are expected to show that farmers plan to retire 21 million acres of land this year from production of cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco under the soil bank program.

The semifinals are scheduled for this afternoon, and the finals to night.

Frank's Service (Youngstown) was to meet Blepp Coombs at 2, and Frank's Service (Canton) was paired against Joe's All-Stars at 3. The games played tonight will begin with the consolation contest at 7:30.

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox tangle with the Pittsburgh Pirates today and will be without the services of Bubba Phillips.

Phillips, a converted outfielder who has played some pretty good third base for the Sox this spring, has an infected right foot and has been sidelined indefinitely.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—If determination means anything, Jerry Kindall, Chicago Cub bonus player from the University of Minnesota, is going to stick in the big leagues.

While the Cubs trained at Mesa, Kindall was out taking special batting practice every day after an exhibition game. There wasn't anyone else around so Kindall settled for a throwing machine to serve his pitches.

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Left-hander Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies believes he is ready for his best season since 1950, when he won 18 as the Phils took the National League pennant.

"This is my year," Simmons said. "I feel better than I ever have. Not a trace of soreness and I can get the ball where I want it better."

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—The booming bat of big Joe Adcock is the talk of the Milwaukee Braves training camp.

The lanky first baseman Friday belted a 430-foot homer, his fourth of the drills. He's driven in 15 runs and has a batting average of .394.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Ron Samford who spent most of the winter in the Puerto Rican League appears a good bet to stay with the Detroit Tigers as a utility infielder.

"He can play short, second or third," said Manager Jack Tighe, "and he isn't too bad with the bat."

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' two biggest problems — centerfield and the wildness of Vinegar Bend Mizell — appeared no closer to solution today.

The centerfield situation is back where it was before rookie Bobby Gene Smith took command. Smith hitless in his last 12 trips, is batting only .222. Bobby Del Greco, a defensive master, is at .105 and Chuck Harmon, the third contender, is hitting only .205.

Mizell issued three walks in the first inning and yielded a three-run homer to Joe Adcock Friday.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles are experimenting with bonus player Jim Pyburn as a catcher.

If Pyburn who came up to the Orioles as a third baseman in 1955 can make the move, he'll battle Joe Ginsberg and Rookie Tom Patton for the No. 2 catching spot behind slugger Gus Triandos.

Chicago's Dean Overholster still commands the singles section with his 708.

St. Paul Takes Over 6th Place In ABC

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The St. Paul, Minn., team pushed into sixth place in the open standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament in Fort Worth Friday night.

The Minnesota team had a three-game total of 3,048 with games of 1,023, 1,053 and 972.

Ossie Ragona spearheaded the team with 212-241-203-656.

Chicago's Dean Overholster still commands the singles section with his 708.

Ex-Officer Looks Good On Mound

By JOE REICHLER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A former first lieutenant who decided to give baseball a chance before making the Army a career, has emerged as "the best pitching prospect" on the Chicago White Sox.

The "sleeper" is Roger Howard, a 25-year-old righthander, who is still on the Indianapolis farm club roster. The husky rookie from Johnstown, Pa., has impressed Manager Al Lopez with his poise, coolness under fire and exceptional control in addition to a live fast ball and good curve.

Howard first attracted attention when he hurled two shutout innings in a camp game. Then he sent eyebrows lifting sharply when he stopped the Brooklyn Dodgers cold with one infield hit in a three-inning chore. To show that his first encounter with real live major leaguers was no fluke, he came back to check the New York Yankees without a run and only two singles in another three-inning stint.

"I have a hard time convincing myself that I have a chance to stay with all these veterans around," Howard said.

"I was seriously thinking of staying in the Army," Howard explained. "I like the Army, but Mr. Rigney, vice president of the White Sox, prevailed upon me to give baseball a try. He promised me a training trip with the team. I discussed the matter with my wife and we decided to take Mr. Rigney's advice."

Yankees Edge Dodgers 4-3

Braves Trounce Cardinals 6-1

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Turn back the clock, if you will, almost three decades. Remember the Brooklyn Dodgers of, say, 1930. One of their favorite tricks was for one of them to steal a base already occupied by one of their mates.

Rookie Joe Pignatano of the Dodgers tried it in Friday's exhibition game with the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. He was sent in as a pinch-runner for Rube Walker, who had doubled home a run in the ninth inning. What confused Pignatano was that two Brooks were on base when Walker delivered his blast. Joe saw them both score. But he didn't see that Sandy Amoros was sent back to third base because of a ground rule.

Pignatano broke for third. Halfway down, he realized third base was occupied by Amoros, and he stopped dead in embarrassment. He was run down, but Amoros scored the Dodgers' third run. And that's how the game ended: Yanks 4, Dodgers 3.

Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves received a note of encouragement from two of his question mark pitchers — Chet Nichols and Gene Conley combined for a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton.

At Clearwater, Fla., Philly ace Robin Roberts went the distance and faced only 18 batters in the last five innings to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. At Tampa, veteran Warren Hacker went all the way for the Redlegs in stopping the Washington Senators, 7-2.

Rookie outfielder Harry Anderson clouted a home run for the Phillies. Sherman Lollar into one for the Sox. Pete Whisenant and Art Shult hit homers for the Redlegs.

Elsewhere, the New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Pittsburgh Pirates halted the Detroit Tigers, 6-5, at Lakeland; the Cleveland Indians humbled the Boston Red Sox, 7-1, at Tucson, Ariz.; the Kansas City A's turned back the Buffalo Bisons of the International League, 6-3, at West Palm Beach, and the Chicago Cubs licked Memphis in Mesa, 8-2.

Lee Walls won the game for the Pirates with a two-run homer. Herb Score went five innings for the Indians and was effective except for a homer by Ted Williams.

NBA Playoff Series To Begin Today

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP)—Bill Russell-Bob Pettit and Bob Cousy-Slater Martin personal duels were expected to spice today's opener in the National Basketball Assn. final playoff series between Boston and St. Louis.

The 2:30 p.m. (EST) tip-off in the best-of-seven set was expected to be viewed by a capacity crowd at Boston Garden and a nationwide television audience (NBC).

Neither club ever has reached the finals prior to this season. Boston rookie sensation Russell, the agile 6-10 giant, was ready to match his unparalleled defensive skill against the league's second best scorer, Pettit.

Pettit averaged 24.7 points a game during the regular season. Pettit, who has shed the cast which had been on his left wrist since it was injured in a collision with Boston's Jim Loscutoff six weeks ago, and Russell are both great rebounders.

The matchof centers is supplemented by the test of veteran guards Cousy and Martin who have played each other defensively for years.

On the record, Boston finished its NBA campaign with a 44-28 mark compared to St. Louis' 34-38. The Celtics held a 7-2 edge over the Hawks.

Both swept their semifinal series in three games against Syracuse and Minneapolis, respectively.

The second game will be played here Sunday and the next two in St. Louis next Saturday and Sunday.

Farrell Shifts Lineup Seeking Winning Team

By JERRY LISKA

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—With new manager Kerby Farrell shuffling his Cleveland Indian aces like a riverboat gambler, the only part of the Cleveland lineup for opening day which could be given now is: "Hogan catching."

That's how much Farrell has tipped his hand for the 1957 American League campaign.

"I know I'm taking over a second-place club that had great pitching and poor hitting last year," the successor to Al Lopez said today. "I know the New York Yankees are ahead of us and at least three clubs are pushing us. And I know we got to get some hitting and some speed to gain any ground."

So far, just veteran catcher Jim Hegan, first sacker Vic Wertz and Al Smith, playing somewhere, seem fairly certain of opening day call.

Seasoned infielder George Strickland, a .211 hitter who has been banging the ball solidly this spring, could be a starter.

Thus far, Farrell has concentrated on Billy Farrell, up from Indianapolis; Bob Usher, a .350-hitting outfielder for San Diego last year; and veteran second baseman Bobby Avila at third base.

Strickland has played both at second base and at shortstop where Chico Carrasquel is battling to hold his job after a .243 batting average last season. Another shortstop candidate is Larry Raines, who hit .309 for Farrell at Indianapolis last year.

The key to Farrell's outfield plans may be rookie Roger Maris, up from Indianapolis with a .293 average. If Smith doesn't play center, Maris would have to beat out seasoned Jim Busby or Usher there. In left, Maris' competition is another veteran, Gene Woodling, while Rocco Colavito has the edge in right field.

Farrell is confident that Early Wynn, a 20-game Tribe winner last year with Herb Score and Bob Lemon, will be in shape when the season starts. Wynn, 37, has been sidelined with a pulled hip tendon.

Sooners Near NCAA Wrestling Title

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ever watch a wolf starved for several days prance on a foe? That's an apt description of Oklahoma's Dan Hodge, two time NCAA wrestling champion. He literally eats "em alive.

Hodge, a U. S. silver medal winner in the Olympics and bidding for his third straight NCAA 177-pound title, makes Oklahoma a solid choice today's finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association at the Pitt field house.

The 24-year-old senior won all three matches in Friday opening rounds by falls to extend his victory streak to 45 straight.

In bidding for the triple crown in the opening NCAA matches, Hodge pinned Richard Garretson of Rutgers in 5:50, Pitt's Alex Skirpan in 50 seconds and Garry Haller of Kansas State in 28 seconds.

Going into the semi-final round Oklahoma, spearheaded by Hodge and Roelsler, showed 23 points to lead the pack for its title bid.

Early Wynn Sent To Florida Camp

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Pitcher Early Wynn was ordered to the Cleveland Indians' rookie camp at Daytona Beach, Fla., Friday in the hope that he can recover quickly from a hip injury that has limited his pitching to six innings during the training season.

Herb Score threw only one wrong pitch Friday and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox boomed it out for a 450-foot home run as the Indians won the game 7-1 on two hit pitching by Score and Cal McLish.

Logart Whips Gil Turner

Finishes Strong To Take Decision

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuban Isaac (Kid) Logart's campaign for a title shot at welterweight champion Carmen Basilio had the support of Gil Turner today.

The backing came after the fast-punching 23-year-old invader racked up his second straight unanimous decision over aggressive Gil in a rousing 10-round televised scrap at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Turner, tired from another one of his all-out, full steam ahead thrillers, didn't have enough left in the final three rounds, however, and Logart swept to the front for keeps with his raking left hooks to the body and head.

It was Logart's 12th win in his last 13 starts for a 48-6-5 record. The kid is ranked second to ex-champion Tony DeMarco.

"That $50,000 offer to Basilio for a title fight still goes," said Logart's manager, Eddie Mafuz.

A 41 favorite, Logart was fielded even by the 26-year old Turner for the first five rounds, but he closed strong with his accurate hooks while Turner lost both power and aim in his punching. Turner weighed 148 1/2, Logart 147 1/2.

Both judges, Bill Recht and Nick Gamboli, had Logart ahead, 6-3-1 in rounds. Referee Mark Conn called it 6-4, and The Associated Press 5-4-1.

2 $100,000 Races To Be Run Today

By The Associated Press

The turf spotlight turned on two $100,000 added races — the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park and the John B. Campbell Memorial at Bowie.

The Derby, a mile and one-eighth race, attracted only five 3-year olds. But two of them, Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler and Calumet Farm's Gen. Duke, are expected to play an important role in the May 4 running of the Kentucky Derby and subsequent rich stakes leading to the 3-year old title.

With a 4:47 p.m. (EST) post time the race will be televised by CBS.

Bold Ruler, like the famous Nashua (1955 winner) a son of Nasrullah and also trained by 82-year old Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, was made the even money favorite. Gen. Duke was second choice at 6-5.

Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate was the "big" horse in the field of 10 named for the mile and one-sixteenth of the John B. Campbell.

Most solid contenders, in addition to Dedicate, shaped up as C. T. Chenery's Third Brother, 118, and Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Paper Tiger, 113.

Finsterwald, Palmer Lead Azalea Open

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald's at times unruly putter and a determined Arnold Palmer have combined to make the $12,500 Azalea Open Golf tournament very much of a contest going into today's third round.

Finsterwald, the 27-year-old Jupiter, Fla., pro who grabbed a three-stroke lead with a first day 66, could do no better than 70 Friday and held a one-shot lead with his 136 total for 36 holes.

Palmer, 1954 National Amateur champion, now a professional playing from Latrobe, Pa., came up with a 67, the best score of the second round to bring his total to 137 going into the last two days over the sandy stretches of the 6,800-yard Cape Fear Country club course.

Fred Wampler, a former national intercollegiate champion from Purdue, now a pro out of Indianapolis was in third place at 140, four shots off the front end.

Olympic Club, USAF To Play In AAU Finals

By FRANK PITMAN

DENVER (AP)—San Francisco Olympic Club, winner once before back in 1915, and the U. S. Air Force All-Stars play tonight for the championship of the 50th AAU Basketball Tournament.

The airmen, getting top performances from Dick Boushka and Ron Tomsic of the 1956 U. S. Olympic team, ousted Seattle's defending champions, 84-63 in Friday night's semifinals.

The San Franciscans whipped Peoria, Ill., 70-61, in a tremendous comeback after trailing 13 points in the first half.

Peoria and Seattle play for third place in tonight's first game.

Lawson Reenacts St. Louis Slaying

ST. LOUIS — Police said Jackie Ray Lawson Friday reenacted the killing of 29-year-old Mrs. Credia M. Mallady Friday at her St. Louis apartment after signing a statement for the second time admitting that he was the attractive divorcee's murderer.

Shortly after he was brought here Thursday night from Columbus, Ohio, he repudiated the first confession given to Ohio authorities. But he reversed himself in a hand-written statement.

Lawson has been charged with manslaughter in a warrant signed by the circuit attorney's office.

Mrs. Mallady's body was found in a creek near Columbus where Lawson said he had dumped her after bringing her in the trunk of his car from St. Louis. He said he strangled her Feb. 26 during an argument about his proposed return to Columbus to live with his wife and small child.

Can Billboard Aid In Love Affair?

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio — Ted Horner tried to decide today whether a billboard bill would be a shortcut or a detour on a somewhat rocky road to his true love.

To impress a sweetheart who had been giving him the cold shoulder, Horner invested in a billboard bearing the message in letters six feet high:

"Florence—I Love You. Me."

The sign was to be posted so Florence could see it on her way to work. Horner wouldn't say where she worked, but fellow employees at the industrial products company where he is a salesman said he has talked of a pretty Akron school teacher.

The sign is on its way by truck today from Columbus, Ohio, but Horner is somewhat uncertain whether it should go up. The newspapers got into the act, and the publicity caused the idea to occur to Ted that his sweetheart's reaction might be one to chill his romance even more.

Social Security Disability Program Affects 2 Groups

With the introduction of disability insurance, the Social Security Administration is being confronted with many questions concerning the benefits.

Persons entitled to the new benefits include disabled children reaching age 18; and an insured worker who is disabled between the ages of 50 and 65.

To be entitled to child's disability insurance benefits, a child must not only be dependent on a parent who is getting old-age insurance or who died after 1939 and was insured for social security benefits at the time of death, but must meet certain other conditions under the social security law.

He must have become disabled before reaching the age of 18 years, and the disability must have continued until after that age. A disabled dependent child receives monthly payments after age 18 unless he marries or overcomes his disability.

A temporary or partial disability will not entitle a child to disabled child's benefits after age 18.

To qualify for disability insurance benefits at age 50, you must have worked in employment or self-employment covered by the law for a certain amount of time. You must have had at least five years of work that counts towards social security in the 10 years before your disability began. At least one and a half years of that work must have been in the three years just before the beginning date of your disability.

Even if you are now under 50, if you have been disabled for six months or more and your disability is expected to continue indefinitely, you will be to your advantage to have your social security earnings record "frozen."

To be eligible for the payments, you must submit medical evidence showing that (1) you have a physical or mental condition so serious that it prevents you from doing any work, and (2) your disability has lasted at least six months and is expected to continue for a long time or indefinitely.

July, 1957, is the first month for which disability benefits can be paid to a totally disabled person.

Ohio Nearly Out Of Free Vaccine

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Final purchases from Ohio's allocation of federal funds for free polio vaccine are scheduled to be completed by April 15.

This was disclosed Friday by Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, who said that of the state's allotment of $2,100,000 for vaccine only enough remains for the purchase of 115,000 cubic centimeters.

When the April 15 orders are filled, the state will be out of the "free vaccine business," Dr. Dwork said. He added that he knows of no move in Washington to extend federal aid.

The department has distributed nearly three million c.c.'s of the vaccine throughout Ohio, he said.

In Washington, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said there is no cause for alarm because of the temporary shortage of Salk vaccine. Basil O'Connor, foundation president, said estimates indicate enough vaccine will be released between now and June 30 to provide two shots to all persons 40 and under who want them.

MIAMI, Fla. — A brigged Marine, who wants out, has gone to law about it in what may be a unique case.

Lieb set Monday for hearing Lepping's explanation of why Martin remains in the brig.
